What is Hifi Finance (MFT) ?

Hifi defines it as a platform for decentralised financial transactions, where users can lend and borrow cryptocurrency at a predetermined interest rate. CoinMarketCap describes Hifi as “decentralised interest rate markets with fixed maturities.” In addition, the Automated Market Maker model is used in this decentralised finance system, in which users contribute tokens to liquidity pools and an algorithm determines the interest rate in response to market conditions.

In addition, the HIFI ERC20 token is utilised for platform governance and other purposes. Token holders could cast votes and submit proposals to the Hifi governance system. The token holder’s voting power would be proportional to their token balance.
